"It's been a long, long time since I have been this moved and excited by a game that has been so well thought out and put together, from all possible angles. The game is simply an experience for all the senses, inviting one to delve deeper and think to the exact degree that suits the moment. It is so simple and ingenious that it makes one wonder why it wasn't conceived along time ago."

Prepare for a profound, enriching experience...

The Coaching Game is intended for team leaders, coaches, organizational consultants, therapists, facilitators, and other professionals who are ready to expand their choice of tools and introduce an intuitive catalyst into their work processes. This highly interactive workshop will broaden your professional point of view while teaching you how to use The Coaching Game to create breakthroughs in the ways your clients think, communicate, respond, and act in varied work/life situations.

Facilitated by Yaron Golan, an internationally-recognized business/life coach, and co-creator of The Coaching Game, participants will experience and learn how the tool:

- Widens perspective and perceptual fields
- Fosters convergent and divergent thinking
- Ignites creativity
- Deepens listening skills
- Surfaces hidden assumptions and biases
- Invites reflection and personal growth
- Generates clarity toward decisive action
- Can be adapted to specific process goals
- Is used effectively—and when it is not

The Coaching Game consists of 65 coaching cards, a 200-page book, a process layout chart, and a notepad of coaching tickets. Each workshop participant will receive a complete game, retail value $160. The Coaching Game was launched in Israel in April 2007; it is now being brought to professionals throughout the world.
